Pearl Herding Trophy Rules

Gloria Graham and Anne Gunn introduced this annual herding trophy in 2007 with the objective of encouraging herding in the Canadian Cardigan Corgi Club. The trophy is named after Gloria's Airlie Denbigh Déjà vu (Pearl) who in 2010, became the first Canadian Cardigan to win an Advanced Title in the Canadian Kennel Club Arena Sheep.

1. The annual award is based on the average of the best three percentage qualifying scores for the calendar year. Scores not out of 100 will be prorated.
2. The scores can come from any of five herding venues: CKC, AHBA (American Herding Breed Association), AKC (American Kennel Club) and ASCA (Australian Shepherd Club of America). AHBA and ASCA host trials both in Canada and the USA. The Canadian All-breed herding championship is also an eligible trial. AKC is included because herding trials are not readily available to all CCCC members.
3. The scores can be from cattle, sheep or ducks.
4. The scores can be from any level and any type of herding trial (arena, stock dog, herding trial dog, herding ranch dog, large flock and herding trial arena dog)
5. A certificate suitable for framing will be awarded annually.
6. The owner, handler's and dog's name will be added annually as an engraved plate to the permanent trophy.
7. The dog's owner must be a CCCC member at the time of the three qualifying scores.

The following rules must be complied with to be eligible for the Pearl Trophy:

1. All applications for awards must be in writing – email is acceptable.
2. All applications must be sent to the CCCC Trophy and Awards Committee.
3. All applications must be postmarked no later than December 31 of the year that the scores were obtained.
4. Each dog must have a separate application.
5. The applicant must provide copies of official score sheets. The original score (for example 90/120) must be provided as well as the percentage and exact details of the date, the type of trial, level, stock and judges.
6. If a score sheet is not provided, the applicant should notify the CCCC Trophy and Awards Committee to find a reasonable substitute.
